War dragons atlas rider anja

I've finally scratched enough blue shards to hire a seasonal Atlas rider. I've found the honor of hunting to be pain in the neck, so I honestly don't expect to get another (if any) in the near future. So, I want to make sure I don't regret choosing a rider. I currently have these completed seasonal riders: Offensive: Oksana, Astrid, Reginald Defensive: Bjord, Tanok Most Used Dragons: Dreth, Gunnar, Haku, Hyaku Some observations: As an F2P sub-150 my base gets stomped on for a long time. Atlas riders are not generally general riders like seasonal riders. Offensive riders have an immediate effect. I've read that Crom stat-wise is the best def rider, but I'm more willing to become an offensive rider (of which Anja seems to be really good). Can someone help with input / suggestions / advice? Crom is a really good defensive rider. You're also right that the sub-150 even the most optimized base will still get trampled a lot. Offensively, Anja is currently the strongest atlas rider (and probably the strongest rider in general for hunters and warriors). Htts://wd.neon-wonderland.com/rider you can use this if you want to do more to compare yourself. 4 like one case where I can't have Anja is when your main attacker was the caller. He should be great attackers on you's list, and since he has enough skill points to get two of the three (witch, hunter, warrior) branches, he can even move a little bit. Sorc branch benefits almost any dragon (except fafnyr) because rage is good for everyone, not just sorcs. Anja. There's going to be a better defensive driver next season. Thanks for the answers! I didn't watch rider stats at wd.neonwonderland before posting, not me narrowing my choices, but all the different ways skilled riders were still distracted. What seasonal Atlas rider would you recommend to the caller? I was thinking of getting Morak. None of them, all atlas riders have a class of specific bonuses for a hunter/witch/warrior. You note that all riders listed here are season riders: Reginald is a strong choice of callers. Both Astrid and Oksana work as well, but morak you really want to rage at Reginald too. 1 As thank you, I see that henfon referred to Anja [+other Atlas riders]. I dug deeper into the numbers to see why Anja was so good. For those who are inherently lazy like me, Sophia, Anja and the rest of the seasonal riders are: Malus, Swann and Kevana have 130 skill points. Sophia and Anja have 190. This allows them to select 2 out of 3 end branch lines to complete. Sophia gets +1% generic HP compared to the rest. Anja gets +2% generic HP compared to the rest. Anja gets +11% hunter attack / sorc HP / warrior HP compared to Sophia who gets +10% hunter attack / sorc HP / warrior HP. This topic was automatically closed 30 days after the last response.
